

edison red book

winter 2025

warm

volume 2, issue 1

Looking out the window, snow on the ground,
Bare branches swaying without a sound.
The icy wind hums a ghostly call,
A quiet stillness covers it all.

Inside, the fire glows soft and bright,
Casting golden hues on the walls tonight.
The chill may bite, the frost may sting,
But here, warmth wraps around everything.

"Scorched Beyond Belief"

by Ty Gniadek

with Punctured

Twinkle twinkle little star

O I wonder where you are

The sky is gray

The wind is cold

The snow is falling

Seeping into my bones

I can't run and I can't hide

Chills bleeding through tonight

O Winter wonder, dark and grim

You keep me craving deep within

Through the frost, you light my way

Your glow turns night to gentle day

Your warmth, melts my icy heart

You're my end, middle, start

Twinkle twinkle little star

O your love is warm, even from afar

the edison red book

The Edison Red Book is a publication for artists, writers, and musicians that is displayed in Edison Library, as well as a digital PDF publication available on the Edison Library website.

There are three issues per year – one per season of the school year: fall, winter, spring

The Edison Red Book is for any Edison student in grades 9 - 12.

The Edison Red Book was conceptualized by Heidi Meyer in fall of 2023. The first issue was in winter of 2024.

Several things inspired Ms. Meyer's creation of the Edison Red Book:

- ❖ Aubrey Beardsley's The Yellow Book
- ❖ Self-published "zines" that she read in college
- ❖ A similar project Ms. Williams has done with seniors
- ❖ A session at an ILF conference about a library teen artist-in-residence program
- ❖ A desire to give creative students a tangible outlet for their work

For more information, or to submit work, scan these QR codes:

info

submit